EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Service. Value. Reputation.
That's the Power of McGrath.

Top 3 Reasons...

McGrath Auto Group stands out from other car dealerships:

1. Advancement Opportunities
McGrath understands that people want and need new responsibilities to grow professionally. We are proud to offer our employees opportunities to grow within our organization, letting them know that we value their contributions and have confidence in their abilities to take on greater challenges.

2. Employee Training Programs
We value our employees and want them to grow professionally. At McGrath we require our employees to be properly trained, not only to promote the employee's professional growth, but also to ensure our customers receive the highest quality of service and knowledge from our entire staff. We invest in our employee's continuing education by providing ongoing training by outsourced companies that are experts in the automotive industry as well as making sure our staff is fully trained through manufacturer certification programs.

3. State-of-the-Art Technology
At McGrath, our employees are empowered with state-of-the-art technology and tools to get the job done in the most efficient ways possible. A few examples of these tools include RFID technology, high-tech car washes, and laptops for all technicians.

What Makes McGrath A Great Place to Work For?

Employment Opportunities at McGrath Automotive Group

The McGrath name is known in Chicagoland for premium sales and service experience and the service our customers receive is second to none. Our group of car dealerships includes the Acura, Audi, and Honda brands.

The McGrath Group is always looking for the best people that Chicagoland has to offer; people who truly understand dedication, service, loyalty and performance.

At all of our four locations, we understand, respect, appreciate and include every employee in all aspects of our dealership. We work in a fast paced, target orientated environment that requires the best specialists in every department.

In our group of stores, every career is a journey that starts with learning about exceptional customer service. Our employees know that our performance goals are to be better than most dealerships in the U.S. and as such, our employees are given exceptional opportunities for growth and expansion not only within their career, but also in whatever career they choose for the future.

No matter if you start as a Technician, a Service Advisor, Sales Consultant, or any number of other positions our group offers, we are the right place to work if you want to be one of the best in the automotive industry.

At McGrath Automotive Group we offer competitive compensation and benefits and believe that our strongest resources are our team of professionals.

We invite you to join our team, shape your future and build a foundation for success.
